

NERD-NO-MORE™

Timmy

Before

After

Before he found Nerd-No-More™, Timmy suffered.

It seemed like “Beating Up Timmy” was a big part of the daily work-out regimen for Dave, starting quarterback for the Draughton High School football team, and his friends. They took his lunch money. They stuffed him in his locker. They gave him major wedgies.

The main reason that Dave was still on the football team was because Timmy was doing his homework.

And when Timmy protested – my, it was amazing how accident-prone he got. He fell down stairs. He bumped into doors. He stumbled. A lot.

You know the story. It may even be YOUR story, too.

Then Timmy found Nerd-No-More™. After one dose of Nerd-No-More™ there was no Timmy. There was Tammy... pretty, pretty Tammy. After a second dose, there had never been a Timmy. Only Tammy remembered him.

She's a happy girl, now. Those football players would much rather hit on her than beat on her. But she isn't interested. She's having a wonderful time as the sexy, vivacious girl – though still an A student – she is now. And seriously dating Jack, the president of the Chess Cub and – even if he doesn't remember it – Timmy's best friend.